

Profs. Farmer, Trasciatti and Ploran Win Grant to Study Sandy Evacuation

JAN 17 • ACADEMICS, EARTH SCIENCE, FACULTY GRANTS & PUBLICATIONS, IN THE NEWS, SCIENCES • 252 VIEWS • NO COMMENTS

$1.4M to fund superstorm Sandy social-science projects

Dr. Christa Farmer, associate professor of geology, is heading up one of 10 projects to split $1.4 million awarded by NOAA and the Sea Grant groups in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut for Superstorm Sandy-related research. Farmer, Dr. Mary Anne Trasciatti from the Department of Rhetoric and Dr. Elisabeth Ploran from the Department of Psychology will study cultural

POPULAR LATEST TAGS

EXPERTS

Dance Team Turns Up the Heat at the Super Bowl

JAN 27 • 18 VIEWS

Creative Writing MFA Program Hosts Feb. 1 Open House

House

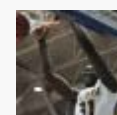

Hofstra Celebrates Black History Month

JAN 24 • 43 VIEWS

Journalism Senior Wins National FOX News Scholarship

Scholarship

Hofstra Looks To Continue Strong Play Against Northeastern On Saturday

and language barriers that may have contributed to the decision by many residents of the ethnically diverse city of Long Beach not to evacuate before the storm. Their work will be used to help government and weather officials develop better ways to communicate early warnings and evacuation recommendations.

You might also be interested in these stories:

WLIW Show to Highlight

Hofstra Awarded Grant to Clean Up

Prof. Mary Anne Trasciatti

In the News: Dr. Mary Anne

coastal storm

Long Beach

National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration

Sea Grant

storm evacuation

Superstorm Sandy

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: KARLA SCHUSTER

Karla Schuster has been assistant vice president of university relations at Hofstra University since October 2009.

EVENT HIGHLIGHTS

Monday, January 27, 2014

Undergraduate Admission
Information Session and Tour
10:15 AM

Undergraduate Admission
Information Session and Tour
02:00 PM

2014-2015 Resident Assistant

View Full Calendar

RECENT VIDEOS

STANDOUT
STUDENT: LIANA
ROSEMAN

JAN 6 • 232 VIEWS

CHEER TEAM STARS IN NATIONAL TV
COMMERCIAL

JAN 2 • 2671 VIEWS

STANDOUT
STUDENT:
ANDREW MARKS

DEC 16 • 513 VIEWS

STANDOUT
STUDENT: BRANDON
HANNAN

DEC 2 • 832 VIEWS

GET MORE HOFSTRA

